Launch a program to combat violence and child labour

Name:
Program to combat violence and child labor.

Description:
The Program to combat violence and child labour will look into all Brazilian cities with a high number of child labour and violence against children and adolescents. The program will contact the city halls and choose the most suitable to formalize a partnership. The main goal of these partnerships is to mobilize the Mayors and the Municipal Secretariats, focused on Social Assistance and Education, to take action against violence and child labour.

Implementation plan:
1. Recommendation of professionals from CRAS (Reference Center for Social Assistance), CREAS (Specialized Social Assistance Reference Center), OSC's (Civil Society Organizations), Education unities and Tutelary Council, to participate in discussion groups about violence against children and child labour, qualifying services activities and elaborating new actions from prevention and intervention strategies.
2. Implement and qualify methodologies focused on measurement indicators.
3. Mobilize the Regional Offices of Labour and city halls to develop systematic supervision to combat child labour.
4. Implementation and qualification of municipal committees with the participation of intersectoral agents from Social assistance, health, education, and justice system. The goal is to promote knowledge exchange and to elaborate Municipal plans in a participatory method to combat violence and child labour.
5. Carrying out communication actions, local and national, for civil society, children, adolescents, and their families, aiming to raise awareness and inform them about types of violence and child labour.
6. Monitoring progress and evaluation results and impacts of the program.

Impact:
The Program to Combat Violence and Child Labour will contribute to ending child labour in the chosen municipalities, and, later, other municipalities through the replication of good practices and the mobilization of the intersectoral network, essential to combat child labour and protect children, adolescents, and their families.
