Millennium Child Support Group, Ghana pledges to

End child labour in Ghana's Cocoa farms

End child labour in Ghana's Cocoa farms

Name:

Ending Child Labour in Ghana Cocoa farms - a way forward

Description:

Millennium Child Support Group intends to redouble our efforts towards progress to advance, day by day, of no child is subjected to child labour or exploitation in Ghana especially at the cocoa growing areas of the country. We wish to augment Government to expand access to free, quality public education as the logical alternative to child labour to all children. Addressing child labour in supply chains is our priority. We will set up more network and volunteers regularly to monitor the farming activities in remote community to ensure there is no child labour.

Implementation plan:

We are committed to strengthening the cocoa growing community members to have capability to address child labour risks. Pledge through community sensitization, training, skills and knowledge to cascade strong child labour prevention and remediation measures down to supply chain.

Impact:

We strongly believe that these steps will ensure stakeholders in the cocoa supply chain do not support child labour and thus remove all substantial risk of child labour to their brands.
