University of Prishtina, Kosovo pledges to

Prepare future education professionals to identify and support children involved in child labour

Prepare future education professionals to identify and support children involved in child labour

Name:

Preparing future teachers and education professionals to identify and support children involved in child labour.

Description:

The Faculty of Education Prishtina will introduce new courses on "Child Protection and Welfare" and "Early Identification and Intervention" for students of the Faculty of Education. The courses will prepare students (teachers, pedagogues, and general education professionals), among other topics, to identify the signs and symptoms of child maltreatment, including child labour. It will support children in rehabilitation and reintegration, as part of a wide group of stakeholders supporting children at risk.

Implementation plan:

Through introducing new courses as well as adding specific lectures to existing courses (e.g. child development).

Impact:

- Design/modification of the courses
- Course delivery in the new academic year 2021/2022
