Liberate children from child labour through the promotion of a healthy and fun childhood in Iraq

Name:

Liberating Children from Child Labour through Promotion of a Healthy and Fun Childhood in Iraq

Description:

WRO's Action Pledge is built on the notion that the child is the most precious and vulnerable in society and that every effort must be made to not only protect them, but build them up while allowing them to live a childhood free from violence and full of joy, adventure, and learning. It is paramount to support children through activities that help bolster opportunities for play which allows children to use their creativity while developing their imagination, proficiency, and physical, cognitive, and emotional strength.

Implementation plan:

The play and PSS activities the pledge will engage are a very important part is important to healthy brain development and strengthening children's positive coping mechanism in dealing with stressors and traumas that they face and to positively engage and integrate with other children including children from diverse backgrounds which fosters peaceful coexistence and understanding at an early age. It is through play that children at a very early age engage and interact in the world around them. WRO will not only focus on children, but the whole family including parents and caregivers as well as raising awareness on the harms of child labour and the importance of healthy child development.

Impact:

The action pledge will contribute by raising awareness, providing alternative opportunities for children as well as families through activities, advocacy, and coordination efforts.
